It is good value alright...well worth looking at could be fixed with new gear box oil fingers crossed or even pick up a second hand box for 200 quid..mr2 parts are dirt cheap in Ireland ;)

May be good from Dealer if you dont mind it is not T-bar and doesn't have leather seats. Often if you just see car in live and drive, it may tell you buy or not... Just look anywhere you can if you don't hear "voices";)

Welcome to MR2.ie.

The MR2 gearboxes are fairly heavy duty which can make them crunch gears every now and then. Another thing could be if the clutch fluid might need bleeding, or just the clutch adjusted. I wouldn't let it put you off the car but check it out on a test drive.
