

1st Anniversary Products - Any idea's

Posted by dshamrock2000 - 2010/05/21 22:25

Hi all,

Were thinking of getting a few things done for the 1st Anniversary,

If you could let us know what you'd be interested in and how much you'd pay that would be great

Also if you have any idea's for products feel free to post up her,

So far were thinking of:

Mr2 Pins: probably the shape of an mr2 - what would you pay?

Keyrings: Just a normal square one with MR2 Drivers logo - what would you pay?

keys: what would you pay?

These will be limited to a qty of 50, so in theory Rare :cheer:

As we get prices and prototype's for different products I'll update everyone on cost and post up pics etc

What do yis think?

I like the sound of the pin and the keyring. Would pay around 6-8 euro max for each.

Dont really know what ya mean by keys. Ignition key? If so, what have seen/thinking of?

They keys would be Toyota blanks with a logo on them - so failry unique and subtle. So, you get it and then bring your original and the Mr2.ie blnk to a keycuters and get it cut.

I'm waiting on a reply from a place to see if this is doable at a reasonable cost.

Ah yeah, did that with my last 2. They were lovely, gold inlayed fob with gold blade. Well smart.

I'm hoping to sport my New MR2.ie/Mr2 Gal Clothing on the Run for Antrim, Anything you want done on a T-shirt, Bommer Jacket, Fleece etc... can be done and hopefully will have some definate prices for yis if anyone is interested. Logo's can be put on Front, Back, Breast or all of the above and are Imbroidered to Perfection. I have this guy doing my Work Clothing so I'll get a good Discount on this work I'll be throwing him as an extra!! :heyhey:

Dave, I reckon there will be more take up at the show, between ourselves and other Mr2 enthusiasts. We can encourage a few people to sign up to the site on the day, there and then, then they can buy a keyring!

What are the chances/cost of doing a black polo shirt with the logo?

Re:1st Anniversary Products - Any idea's

Posted by SWAGGER - 2010/06/27 22:08

Dave doesnt actually make the stuff, he got these made up specially out of his own pocket for MR2.ie's first birthday. He may know where to go to get a price and so on, but its not a case of asking Dave for anything and he makes it.

However, during a mini meet a couple of weeks ago, we were approached by a guy who can make t-shirts, polo shirts, mugs, hats and so on, so maybe he could do it. Seemed good and reasonably priced. I dont have his card on me, but Dave might.

MR2GAL was looking into the t-shirts etc, The plan was to buy the t-shirts ourselves (approx €3) and then have the logo stitched in, i believe she had gotten a price but i'll check it out with the lad @ younameit.ie and see what price he comes back with

Ok, ive made €32 between the keyrings & photo's to put towards my next idea, which is an MR2 drivers watch, I know most people will all ready have a watch if they use one etc however it may be nice to have as a piece of MR2 memorabilia, The stage im at to date is that ive gotten 3 designs submitted of which I went for one to be made as a sample, I havent discussed price yet as I find it can take a bit of time agreeing to one with a supplier and then theres minimum order qty's etc etc, so I like to buy a sample and then discuss prices based on what I think of the actual product,

So 1st question is would anybody be interested?

Whats a reasonable price?

What do you think of the design?

Are there any of the keyrings left? I'd be interested in getting one! I don't have anything for my key as yet and that'd be perfect!

As for the whole key thing? How does that work, does it include the chip to turn of the immobiliser?

Yep have a few kingrings left, will bring them to the next mini meet with me, Spidey is looking into the key thing, but my wifes casing for her key broke last night, i notice i can defo replace one side of the casing without having to do anything with the immobiliser chip, i'll have a better look at it tonight but i dont see why a universal one couldnt be made up
