

[OT]: Sister forum for R/C flying

Posted by Quandry - 2012/02/10 08:19

If in your travels through the internet you come across a forum that looks very like this, and seems to have somewhat similar graphics etc, don't be alarmed. I set up a new forum for model aircraft flying using the same template that we use here at www.mr2.ie.

The reason for this is that I'm getting my eldest son started in flying model planes and wanted to be able to capture that experience in pictures and words. It seemed more appropriate to put that on another site rather than start a model R/C section in an MR2 forum.

If you like or have an interest in R/C Planes, Helicopters, Gliders etc then drop in over there to say hello: <http://www.rcparkflying.com>

Good template to use - just need to remove the MR2 drivers still on bottom of home page.

Looks like fun but might be a good few years before i'd consider letting my kids near an expensive r/c helicopter !
