

double din with dvd, gps all the trimmings

Posted by white97mr2 - 2012/10/13 00:50

argh!!!Forgive my frustration but does anyone know anywhere that stocks a good selection of headunits without going down the old ebay route.I like to see things in person when paying so much.I heard of electro direct in athlone.They have some savage headunits for sale made by sharp but when i googled these units not one scrap of info came up which is giving me doubts if they are even legit sharp units.has anyone here dealt with them?Any info would be much appreciated.I went to halfords and they said because of the recession that they only stock basic units.

=====