Since there hasn't been any posts in this section in about 2 years, i thought i would dust the cobwebs from the forum door and share this website link that might serve useful (and perhaps bring a few laughs!). Some of the names the fakers have for the wheels are nothing short of hilarious! :laugh: :)

We all know about the mainstream fake/replica wheels that are sold like Ravs, Rotas and Dares, but sometimes it can be hard to tell as some fakes are well done and we've all seen the badges from the genuine brands on the fakes as people try and pass them off as the real deal. :angry:

I like to think i know my wheels, but some of the ones of this site i've not even seen before, never mind know that there are mainstream alloy wheel manufacturers selling knock offs :angry:

Anyway, check it out, might save someone from getting landed with a set of fakes if they in the market for a set of wheels for their motor. :woohoo:
