Can't make this one car is not ready and driver is deffo not ready, heading to Scotland on the following thursday for a weekend of MR2 hooning.

I posted this up on the FB page after seeing the trackskills video, will be heading up this year looking forward to meeting you there John.

Its a very well run trackday, worth a visit. the circuit is nowhere near as technical as Mondello but speeds are high and you get loads of track time for £105.

Will hopefully see you either there or at Mondello this year, we plan to do one day down there this year, not sure when but!

You will not be disappointed, ran really well and loads of track time, we usually burn £90 of fuel!
