Ya they look the same but not really seeing it from the front. Is it me or is that expensive for fiberglass?

i emailed carben creations and he will supply the rears seperatley no problems, imo it is expensive for a couple of bits of fiberglass.

but its prob worth it in the long run knowing that they will fit correctly etc i think im going to buy a pair of rears off him and sack the other idea that i have already just because its easier to direct fit than modify to fit.
