now the pic you will see is when she looked a little better but due to work and what not i let her go a little and there wee rust bubbles around the car like on top of the windscreen and around the rear drivers arch. so what im looking to do is looking for a great paint job and have her finished like a top show car, but will be keeping her white so looking for advice on a great body guy that can do the job dont matter where in ireland he or she would be. not in a rush either cause at the moment im saving money for the paint job.

secondaly im looking to get a lsd for the car shes a 2l 3SGE n/a engine and to be honest dont know a lot about them. i know they arent cheap but i dont mind spending the money.

thirdly a good auto electrician to sort out one or two wee bugs nothing serious i just want everything working on her :).

by the time i have finished with her ill be getting new alloys and set of lowering springs and just mainly want her then as a cruiser.

aswell i know the right paint job wont be cheap so dont mind forkin out for that either.
