

MR2 SW20 - lowering springs?

Posted by Rex Banner - 2015/07/24 08:36

---

Hi folks,

I'm considering on lowering my rev1 on lowering springs.
Not by much though, only 25mm - 30mm to remove a large wheel arch gap.
I would also like to run OEM shocks with the setup

The wheel arch gap is a consequence of placing Rev3 alloys on my Rev1 suspension.

Will any SW20 lowering springs fit the rev1?

Can anyone recommend a good brand for decent money, I see APEX ones are cheap on eBay?

=====

Re: MR2 SW20 - lowering springs?

Posted by Quandry - 2015/07/24 09:47

---

Howdy Rex, I bought some springs from Fensport UK in the past. They seem to be excellent with Toyota performance parts.

There's a list of their Rev1 stuff here: http://www.fensport.co.uk/Parts/Model\_24/

Although you might call or email them to double check with them for your own specific need of the mixed rev suspension setup.

=====

Re: MR2 SW20 - lowering springs?

Posted by Rex Banner - 2015/07/24 12:56

---

Thanks for the info. But it looks like they no longer stock Rev1 suspension parts anymore. :-(

=====

Re: MR2 SW20 - lowering springs?

Posted by Bommie - 2015/07/24 13:34

---

From what I remember the apex ones are used quite a bit by the english lads on mr2oc. I think they give the sort of drop you're looking for and don't seem to be too crashy. I'm sure there are quite a few threads on them over there, might be worth a look :)

Re: MR2 SW20 - lowering springs?

Posted by Japohara - 2015/07/24 13:46

---

I have a full set of lowering springs on 4 perfect shocks ... Lowers 30-40 mm if you are interested

=====

Re: MR2 SW20 - lowering springs?

Posted by Rex Banner - 2015/07/27 09:43

---

@Bommie, thanks for that mn. I'll get on IMMOC now for a look.

@Japohara, What make/age are the springs? I probably won't have interest in the shocks at the moment as my own are almost new.

=====

Re: MR2 SW20 - lowering springs?

Posted by Japohara - 2015/07/27 12:24

---

Sorry buddy they are gone ... Dmac beat you to it

=====

Re: MR2 SW20 - lowering springs?

Posted by Rex Banner - 2015/07/27 14:57

---

Not to worry, thanks anyways man.

=====