Nice, let us know how it works out. No cupholder was always a bit of a downside in the otherwise awesome MR2.. :)

They work,have one fitted lately,they sit in nice and tight,but the trays bit feeble in quality,downside is when you have a drink in cup holder,your access to radio,heaters,very limited,but for the price they are a handy solution,i bought mine on e-bay,was 18 euro but didnt have to wait 4 or 5 weeks for it to arrive from china.

Yeah it'll be very slow alright but I probably won't have my 2 on the road this year anyway. Good to hear it works, think it was €7.60 with the app discount.

i have the same in my car, its fine for a can of monster or club orange but it wont really take a tapered coffee cup (from maccers or the like).

I broke off the little tab that is meant to accommodate slimmer cans like red bull or whatever as it kept "grabbing" my normal size cans.

also the cup holder on the left brings tall cans to almost fowling the radio volume dial.

still like it though

Arrived today, wont get to fit it for a few weeks. Drawers are a bit still and the holes for the cups are pretty small. It'll fit a can and standard takeaway cup but that's it.

Cup holders fitted, not a bad addition handy to have I suppose.
