

engine bay re-done

Posted by JOCK - 2016/04/04 19:08

done this today <http://www.mr2.ie/images/fbfiles/images/IMAG0001.jpg>

=====

Re: engine bay re-done

Posted by Quandry - 2016/04/05 09:36

Very clean mate, fair play for putting the work in. I know from experience it takes commitment!

=====

Re: engine bay re-done

Posted by Steve - 2016/04/05 13:15

Very nice jock, looks fantastic good few hours spent there, good finish

=====

Re: engine bay re-done

Posted by JOCK - 2016/04/14 21:06

http://www.mr2.ie/images/fbfiles/images/rsz_imag0002_burst003.jpg Thanks,steve and quandry,sorry for late reply,been flat out rebuilding an yamaha fzr 250,every nut and bolt off,sprayed frame,engine,now for rebuild,
Had to say mr2 engine was very easy to strip down,to take off parts for spraying,VHT paint used,so hopefully stays on lol,sanded all parts down before spraying,had all out,sanded,sprayed and reassembled,in 9hrs,not bad,you wouldnt do that in these damn modern cars with there electrics everywhere.

=====

Re: engine bay re-done

Posted by eringobragh - 2016/04/24 16:20

JOCK wrote:

http://www.mr2.ie/images/fbfiles/images/rsz_imag0002_burst003.jpg Thanks,steve and quandry,sorry for late reply,been flat out rebuilding an yamaha fzr 250,every nut and bolt off,sprayed frame,engine,now for rebuild,
Had to say mr2 engine was very easy to strip down,to take off parts for spraying,VHT paint used,so hopefully stays on lol,sanded all parts down before spraying,had all out,sanded,sprayed and reassembled,in 9hrs,not bad,you wouldnt do that in these damn modern cars with there electrics everywhere.

Where did you get the VHT paint? - I've to do my cam cover gasket soon so might tidy it up while is out.

=====

Re: engine bay re-done

Posted by JOCK - 2016/04/24 18:32

Just bought it from my local autofactors,any autofactors should store it close to you bud.

=====

Re: engine bay re-done

Posted by Quandry - 2016/04/25 10:08

Halfords have hi-temp paint also. I've found it to be quite good.

=====

Re: engine bay re-done

Posted by Bommie - 2016/04/26 19:57

Very nice jock, Kc'd

I used the halfords vht paint on my rocker cover and it's perfect

=====

Re: engine bay re-done

Posted by slipsliderg - 2016/04/26 23:22

Love the colour combo Jock, very nice.

=====